DEDICATION

DEDICATION

To

Mrs. Samuel C. Hodges

who always has the interests of Inter-termont at heart and to whom our school owes so much, we affectionately dedicate this

TWENTY-NINTH VOLUME of THE INTERMONT

FOREWORD

BECAUSE the Alhambra itself will live forever and because Washington Irving has made it immortal in his "Tales of the Alhambra" we, in this edition of THE INTERMONT strive to instill into this book, into your minds and into your hearts the beauty and significance of Intermont through the Moorish theme. If in doing this we make Intermont your Alhambra, establish the immortality of Intermont within you, instill the beauty and significance of Intermont in this book, your minds and your hearts, we will have accomplished our purpose.

SPANISH SERENADE

V. I. Song

*In Bristol town stands V. I. C.
No other stands as high
Upon Virginia's mountain land
Beneath an azure sky.
Its towering walls rise from the hills
Where stately trees abound
And moon and stars keep silent watch
O'er V. I.'s hallowed ground.*

*We are students all of V. I. C.
The great Virginia school;
We always do our level best
And never break a rule.
We will always hold its banner high
Wherever we may be,
To show that we are worthy of Our own dear V. I. C.*

—ALBERT DE CHAUDRON.

History of Class of '29

FATHER TIME toils on incessantly and although we have tried to keep from thinking that our school days have ended, the Seniors of the Class of '29 have to part from our miniature world here at Intermont to an unknown future. We shall never forget the joys and sorrows we shared during the two or more years we have lived together.

It was but a short time ago that we all entered as Juniors who bravely faced the tasks set before us by the old girls. How great they appeared to us and how we hoped and prayed that some day we should be able to do likewise. Then under the unerring guidance of Miss McKee, our sponsor, many honorable tasks were accomplished which paved the way to success in this, our Senior year. Our time arrived but soon it will have to end. But, let us not think of that but recall everything our class has accomplished and enjoyed. The Seniors of '29 are again being successfully and efficiently advised by our sponsor, Miss Ethel J. McCoy, who is always prepared to assist and advise us in every subject and every way.

The Seniors of '29 were the Junior Basket-Ball Champions of '28 and were the winners of the silver loving cup awarded to the winning team each year. In the class are two honor girls, Stella Mae Head and Elsie Grubb, one having been awarded the Junior English Scholarship having attained the highest average in English during her Junior year and the other having been awarded the Science medal for excellency in the Biology department. These were awarded at the commencement exercises in '28. This year seven of its members were chosen for the Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society. Those chosen are: Stella Mae Head, Virginia Barnett, Elsie Grubb, Sara Leslie, Velma Cash, Lillian Stair, and Rose Freedberg.

The Presidents of the two societies, Eoline and Harrisonian, are also graduates of '29, namely Elizabeth Moss and Lillian Pennebaker. How well we remember that glorious night when the Elks' Club banquet hall was arranged in splendor for us and when we bade farewell to our schoolmates, the Seniors of '28, who in turn gave us their ideals to uphold in the name of our dear Alma Mater. These are the memories every Senior of '29 will ever hold dear, the Junior-Senior Banquet. Other sweet but sad memories are recalled of the Class Day of '28 when we, together with our sister classes carrying the daisy chain of love, led the Seniors toward the goal of their attainment. At the close of the Class Day exercises the Seniors of '28 officially designated the Juniors of that year as the Seniors of '29.

And now, we the Class of '29, have reached the end of the trail. Yet again, though we have attained our goal and longings, hopes and aspirations for which we have toiled dutifully with the help of our teachers, we are not happy to think that this is the end. We are sad when we realize that it means leaving friends who are dear to us and have meant much to us during the days and years spent at Intermont. We regret to think of leaving our dear Alma Mater who has prepared us for our next great step in life and who has sheltered us for years in her sacred walls. But we must realize that because of all these things we must go on to be the success Intermont wants us to be and finish the great work it has so honorably begun. We are the citizens of tomorrow. Let us leave the history of the Class of '29 here as it is unfinished and add to it when the successful record reaped for us of our life's work, is complete.

We are now on the crest of the unknown wave. Where shall it roll and what does its destination hold in store for us?

—ROSE FREEDBERG, '29.

Class Prophecy

MAYBE I dreamed it—I don't know, but anyway I was wandering along a dusty road when I came to a signboard which said, "One mile to Intermontville." The name sounded interesting and I decided I would go on.

It was a very beautiful little town so I decided I would stay a while. I went into a large department store and as I was wandering around the notion counter I noticed a calendar. Instead of 1929 it said 1939.

"What is wrong with this calendar?" I asked a clerk.

"Nothing," she said.

Then she explained to me that the city in which I was, was ten years ahead of time. She said it was a very strange place and explained that all the leading citizens were Intermont girls of the Class of 1929. The clerk explained that the store was owned by Miss Naunnerle Argenbright who had as the heads of the different departments of the store Jeanette Compton, Rowena Crush, Eliza Freeman, Katherine Fugate, Velva Garber, Elizabeth Hairfield, Alalynn Jessee, Rose King, and Martha McConnell.

Across the street was a beauty parlor which I found was owned by Fain DeVault. She had as her assistants Mary Pearson, Ola Murray, and Laila Whittington who gave facials; Misses Sidney Newton and Ida Sparr gave permanent waves; and Misses Ruth Williams, and Edith Walker gave finger waves and manicures.

Down the street in a very prosperous-looking drug store I met Mary Elizabeth Adams. I began asking questions about different members of my class and she gave me much valuable information. Viola Thompson was mayor of the town, and Virginia Barnett was chief of police. Of course, a large police force was not needed but it was composed of Jewell Page, Helen Smith, Eleanor Wall, Otie Webb, Lula Thompson, and Lillian Stair.

Johnnie Lee Black, Virginia Guinn, Bernice Hargis, Evelyn Eller, Helen Harrop and Mary Lou McFadden were proud owners of several of the loveliest homes of the city.

Intermontville was a very cultured place and of course everyone was fond of good music. I went to a very splendid program which was given by the Intermontville Music Club. Emily Bottimore was president and those appearing on the program were Emily Barkley, Velma Cash, Sara Leslie, Helen Cross, Marguerite Meador, Mary Moorman, Dorothy Preston, Rachel Tant, Thelma Williams and Stella Mae Head.

Next, I went to a theatre where I saw a wonderful play. The members of the cast were: Alma Counts, Sara Cox, Amanda Brown, and Mary Jones. The persons taking the minor parts were unknown to me. Between acts a very clever stunt was put on by Judith Byrd and Cornelia Carmack.

I visited the High School of Intermontville. Alize Cole was president and among the teachers were Kate Chenault, Elsie Grubb, Margaret Helton, Beulah Hixon, Georgia Ison and Evelyn Guinn. Miss Harriet Cox was the basket-ball coach and her team had won the state championship.

When I went to my hotel, which was owned by Margaret Mayben, I picked up a newspaper and found an article which said that there was to be a big political meeting in Intermontville the next night. Among the chief speakers were: Evelyn Hicks, Mildred Sutherlin, Frances Lantor, and Elizabeth Moss. Turning to the editorial section I found that Rosalie Jones was the editor of the Intermontville News and among the members of the staff were Rose Freedberg, Alice Luter, Winnie Mahaffey, and Katherine Anne Stephens.

I went down to dinner and saw Helen Collins. She admitted that she was a famous novelist and was able to tell me of a few more classmates: Gladys Gibson had become a tennis champion, Lillian Pennebaker, a great poetess, Aurelia Proffitt, a tea room hostess and Florine Smith, a welfare worker.

Maybe this city was only make-believe, but it certainly was a pleasant place.

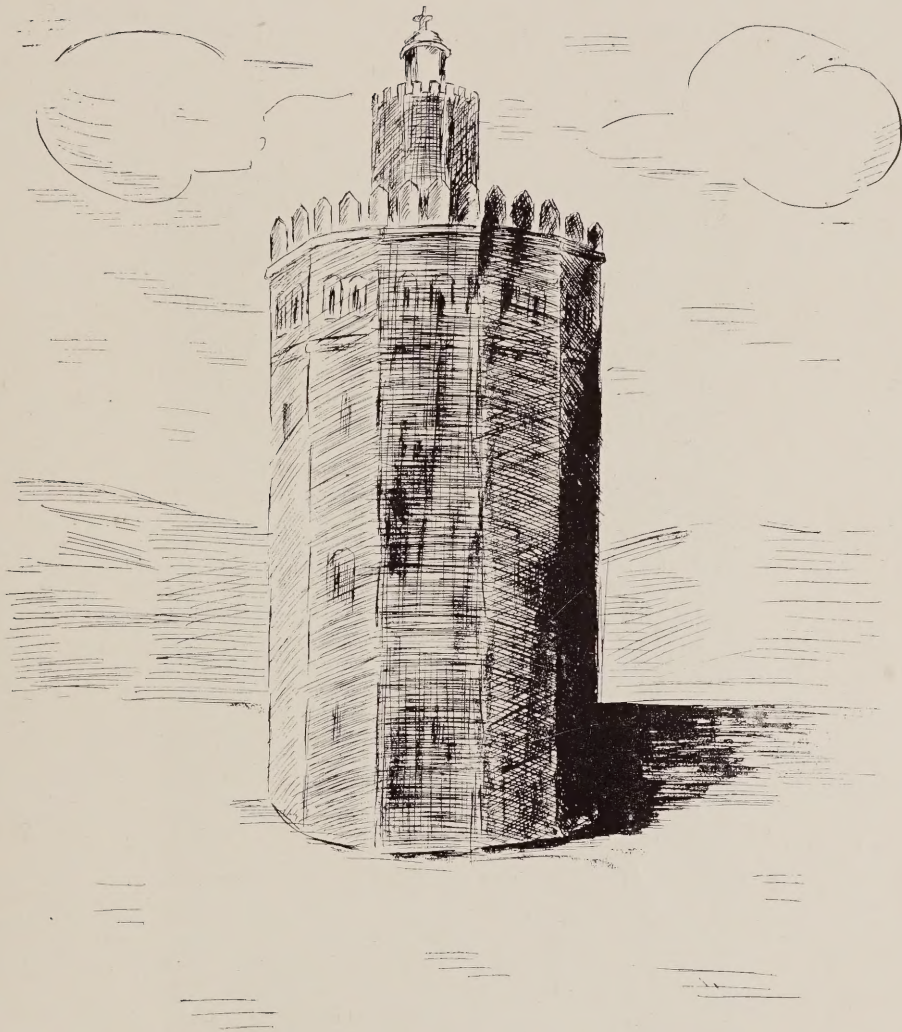

—LOUISE COX, '29.

Intermont Seniors

Laughter, pep, gaiety, fun,
Charms enchanting all in one;
Happiness, joy and brightness, too,
Keep them all from feeling blue.

A bit of seriousness always there,
Zealous energy enough to spare,
Seeking ever more knowledge to gain,
Striving always their goal to attain.

Literature's Beginning

HERE is an ancient legend which tells us that when a man first achieved a most notable deed he wished to explain to his tribe what he had done. As soon as he began to speak, however, he was smitten with dumbness—he lacked words, and sat down. Then there arose, according to the story, a masterful man, one who had taken no part in the action of his fellow, who had no special virtues, but afflicted—that is the phrase—with the magic of the necessary words. He saw, he told, he described the merits of the notable deed in such a fashion, we are assured, that the words “became alive and walked up and down in the hearts of all his hearers.” Thereupon the tribe seeing that the words were certainly alive, and fearing lest the man with the words would hand down untrue tales about them to their children, they killed him. But later they saw that the magic was in the words, not in the man.

Behind the Footlights

THE ideals of the Dramatic Art are high and the road that leads to any degree of perfection in that art is rugged and steep. So we are not claiming for ourselves any lofty achievements this year in Dramatics, but it is with a feeling of pride we realize that some hard work has been done, that our director, Miss Nunnally, has put us through many hours of training in nightly rehearsals, and the end of the year finds us with higher ideals than the beginning.

The first plays of the year were presented on the evening of November 3rd, a few days late, for they were planned especially for October 31st. The first of the two was a very artistic Nature Play, "Miss October Gives a Party." This was given by a large group of children—those playing the leading parts from the Saturday morning Expression class. The second play on this program was a mystery play in one act, "On the Other Side of a Door" by Essex Dane. Shall we ever forget how our hearts stood still and our blood turned to little splinters of ice up and down our backbone as "the knife" came through the door? Sara Cox and Alma Counts, by their excellent acting in this, created the "spooky" atmosphere desired for a Hallowe'en occasion.

Next came the Christmas plays on the evening of December 12th. Two one-act plays were given at this time. "The Christmas Chime" was a rollicking farce affording the audience a laugh in every line. Composing the cast were: Virginia McCauley, Louise Edwards, Alma Counts and Sara Cox. "Mimi Lights the Christmas Candle" the other play on this program was a striking contrast to the first. It revealed in a very appealing manner the true spirit of Christmas—introducing the carols behind the scenes. We like to recall the unusually good work of little Harriet Cooper in the leading role of "Mimi" also the other children, Augusta Pepper and Genevieve Moneyhun. The college girls supporting the younger "stars" were: Janice Williams, Betty Spillman, Frances Cox, Sara Fleming, Charlotte Bowman and Sara Cox.

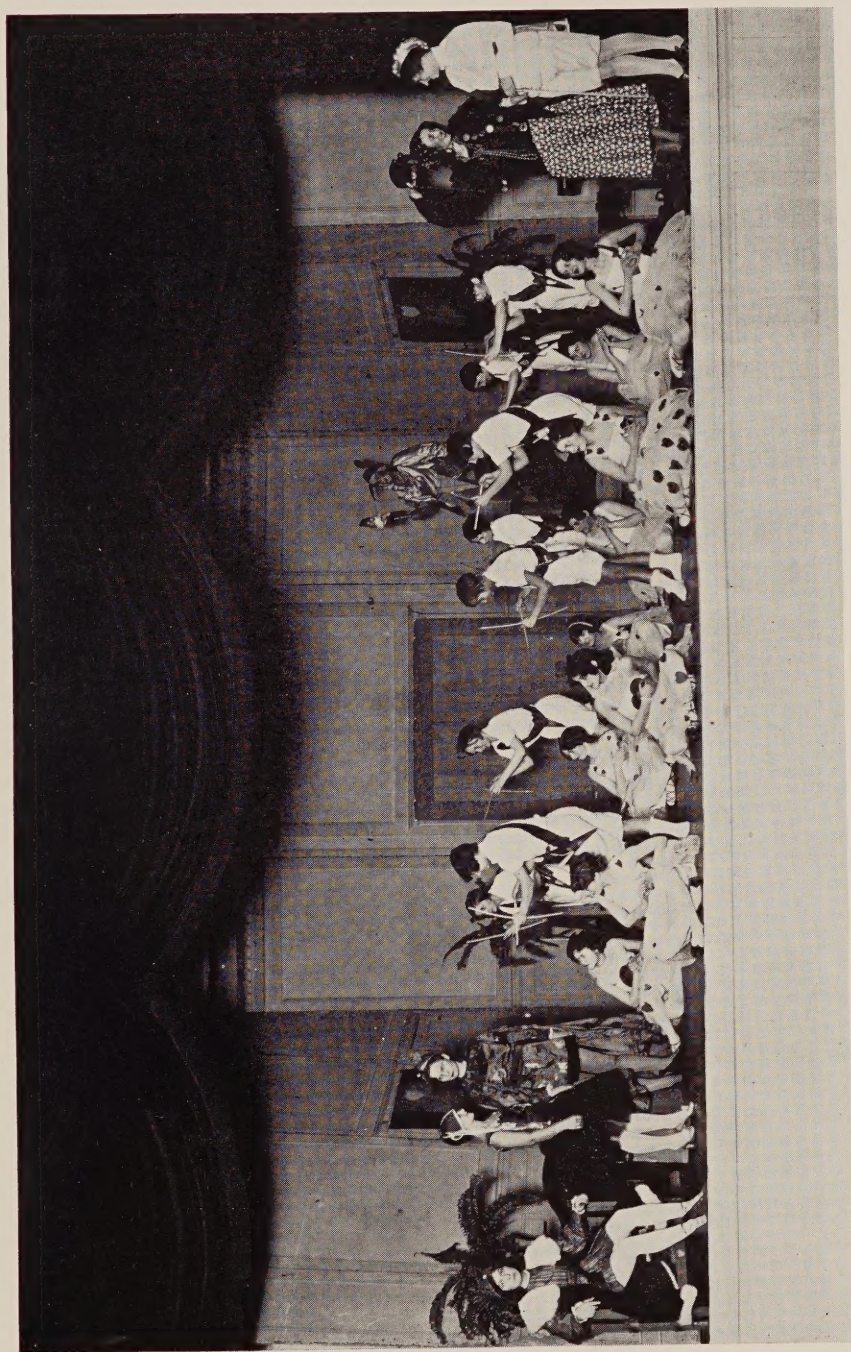

One of the prettiest performances of the whole year was the very spectacular Valentine Pageant given by practically the entire Expression class on the evening of February 16th. Girls playing the leading parts in the Pageant were: Virginia McCauley in the role of St. Valentine, the King; Edith Hailey, Queen of Hearts; Mary Gale Norman, the Court Jester; Elsie Lawson, Court Musician; Amanda Brown, Lord Chamberlain; Harriet Cooper, the Love Fairy.

Perhaps no play ever given at Intermont was more largely attended or enthusiastically received than was the play presented on the evening of March 6th, "The Two Virtues," a satirical comedy in four acts by Alfred Sutro. Good work had been done for weeks by the girls making up the strong cast and the result was a finished performance rarely seen on the amateur stage. Those of the cast were Louise Brewer, Sara Cox, Janice Williams, Louise Edwards, Lois Nuckolls, Virginia McCauley, Ruth Williams and Marie Etheridge. As the Annual goes to press rehearsals on the big commencement play are in progress. "The Boomerang," a three-act comedy by Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes is the play this year. This will undoubtedly prove to be, as it rightfully should, the highest peak of our dramatic achievements this year.

Quite a large number of girls compose the cast of this, the final play of the year: Louise Brewer, Sara Cox, Lois Nuckolls, Virginia McCauley, Amanda Brown, Janice Williams, Mary Gale Norman, Helen Patti Norman, Sidney Newton, Marie Etheridge, Ruth Williams, Reba Wartman, Ruth Gibson, Ruth Ford, and several girls yet to be selected as "extra men."

With this play on May 25th we bring to an end the work of the Dramatic Department for the year 1928-1929.

The Young Woman's Christian Association occupies a distinct and important place in V. I. College life, which no other organization can fill.

The purpose of this Association is to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord; to promote growth in Christian character and service through physical, social, mental and spiritual training; to become a social force for the extension of the Kingdom of God.

SECRETARIAL CLUB

Harrisonian Swing

*Oh, let us keep our colors flying,
And fling our banner high,
We're winning when we're trying,
And we're going to try.
We'll tell the world, girls,
Our crowd is the best;
So, come, let us cheer for old H. L. S.
We'll go to the battle and fight till we win,
And then watch us do it all over again.
Hurrah for our banner,
Three cheers for success—
That's the spirit of H. L. S.*

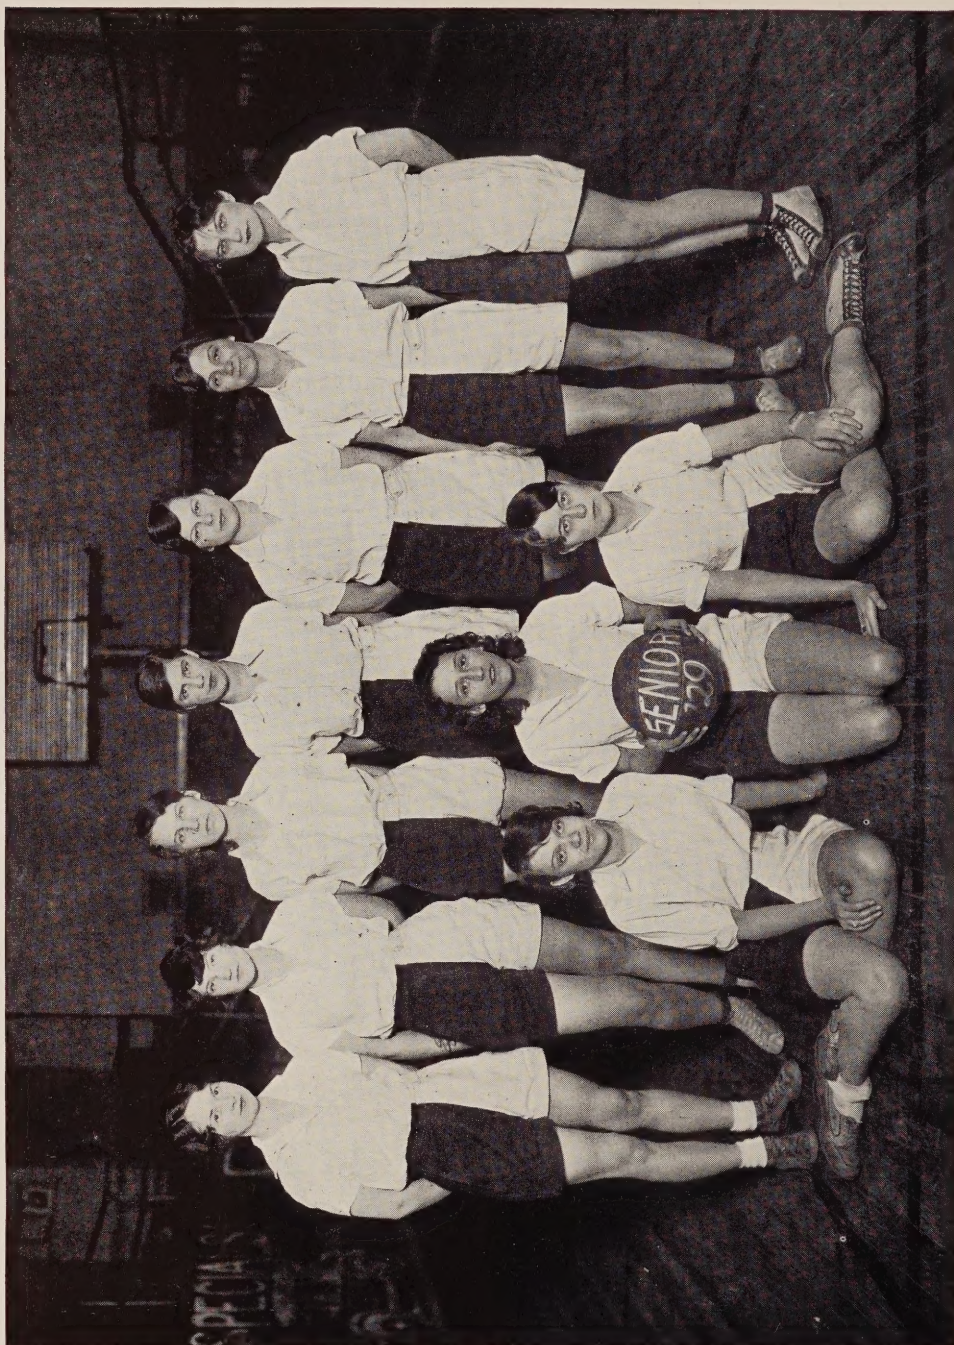

Eoline Swing

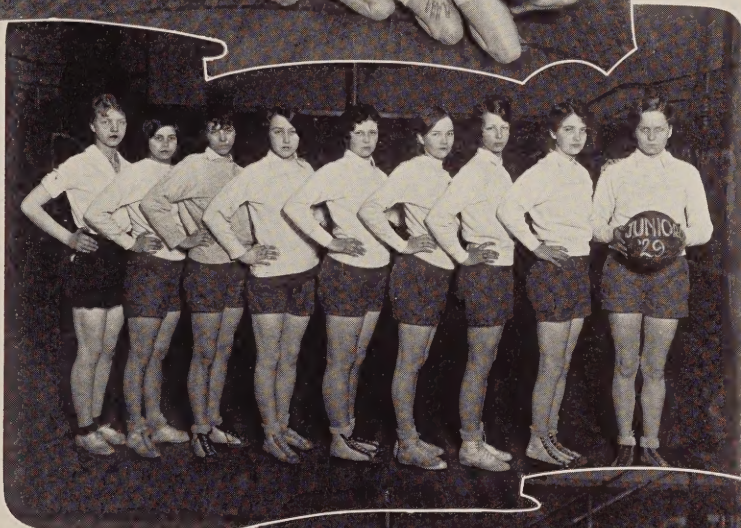

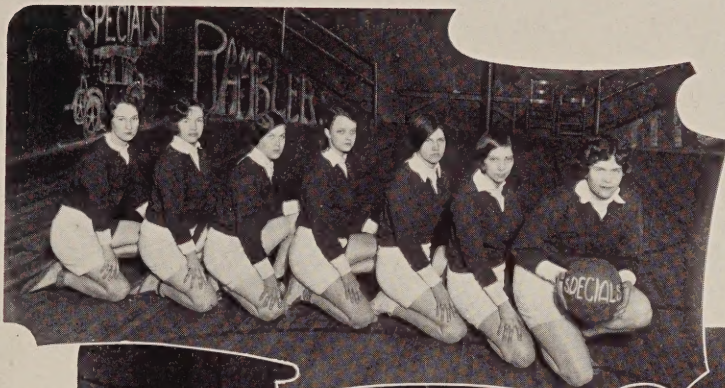

*Eolines, Eolines, we love you,
We know you are the only ones.
For the green and the gold,
They will never grow old,
Watch our step! See our "pep!"
Eolines, Eolines, Eolines, Eolines,
Eolines, Eolines, we love you,
And to you we will all be true,
So rah! rah! rah! rah! rah! rah!
Rah! rah! rah! rah! rah! rah!
Rah! rah! rah! rah!
Oh, by Jiminy—
Eolines, Eolines, we love you!*

ATHLETICS

SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

OTHER TEAMS

Basket-Ball

1929

Basket-ball has been an outstanding sport this year. We do not have inter-collegiate games, but there has been a strong inter-class spirit prevalent. This was clearly shown in our annual tournament held in March.

Quality marked the teams and the individual players this season. But there was also quantity. Girls came out with the desire to make the team. They "stayed out" and made the team. They not only learned the game, but they learned how to play it. They were true sports in every sense of the word. The games during the tournament were for the most part flashy and always clean.

As a reward for hard work the players were guests at the annual Athletic Banquet held in May. At this time the sweater was given to the girl who was considered the best in athletics, academic work and sportsmanship. Old English I's were given to a varsity forward, guard and center. Silver basketballs were presented to the varsity members and every girl who entered training received numerals. Lastly, the cup was awarded to a team that was deserving because they worked and fought for victory. The Seniors!

Jokes

..❖❖❖..

AMANDA—"That play I saw last night started me thinking."

ELIZA—"Evidently a Miracle Play."

MR. BROWN (at church confessing his sins)—"Father, forgive me, for I kissed a pretty girl."

PRIEST—"How many times did you commit this terrible sin?"

MR. BROWN—"Father, I came here to confess and not to brag."

MR. MARTIN—"My face is my fortune."

MR. SCHROETTER—"Yes? When are you going into bankruptcy?"

MISS JENNINGS—"Where is iron found?"

SIDNEY—"At the iron foundry, of course."

DRUNK (Rapping gently on lamp post)—"Nobody home, but there's a light upstairs."

WARDEN—"How come you beat up your cell-mate like that?"

CONVICT—"Aw, he was wise wit' me."

WARDEN—"What did he do?"

CONVICT—"Tare de leaf off'n de calendar and it was my toin."

PINKEY—"Can I see you tonight?"

HELEN—"Yes, if you stand in Cowan's I'll be past there with my chaperon."

ALMA—"What would you advise me to read after graduation?"

"DROOPEY"—"The 'Help Wanted' Column."

TEACHER—"Who was George Washington?"

PUPIL—"He's the guy whose wife makes candy."

I was not surprised when I heard the cook singing this pathetic ballad, "The Frigidaire will never replace the ice man!"

LIB—"Why do you work so hard?"

HATSIE—"I am too nervous to steal."

DEALER—"Shall I send the clothes horse you ordered?"

TOMMIE—"Send it! Did you think I intended to ride it home?"

ONE—"Well I showed up the teacher before the whole class today."

ANOTHER—"Why? Wise me up."

ONE—"She asked me for Lincoln's Gettysburg Address 'n I had to tell her he never lived there. You should have heard the class laugh!"

MISS PFLUG—"You can't sleep in my class."

JULIA CLARKE—"I know it. I've tried for an hour."

MAYBEN—"I'm working hard so I can get ahead."

MISS DAUPHIN—"You certainly need it."

"Of all the sad surprises,
There's nothing to compare
With treading in the darkness
On a step that isn't there."

MR. ROBERTS—"What was 'Pilgrim's Progress'?"

WAVERLY—"The crossing of the ocean by the Pilgrims."

EMILY—"Look at the difference in Mr. Martin and Mr. Brown."

VELVA—"Yes, that's because Mr. Martin eats at home and Mr. Brown eats over here."

SARA—"Why is a newspaper like a woman, Rosie?"

ROSALIE—"Because every man should have one and not run after his neighbor's."

EVA—"Say, it's 12 o'clock; do you think you can stay here all night?"

J. C.—"Well, I'll have to call Mother first."

MERCHANT—"What size suit do you want, about a thirty-eight?"

COLLEGE YOUTH—"Nope, twenty-two fifty."

"Is she a nice girl?"

"I'll say so. The other night when she dreamed of an auto ride she walked in her sleep."

JANE—"Oh Professor, what do you think of me now that you have kissed me?"

PROF.—"You'll pass."

EDITOR—"Who wrote the jokes?"

CONTRIBUTOR—"I did."

EDITOR—"Then you must be older than you look."

IMMANUEL (a brave toreador)—"Ah Senorita, tonight I will steal beneath your balcony and sing you a sweet serenade."

CONSUELLO—"Do, and I will drop you a flower."

IMMANUEL—"Ah, in a moment of mad love?"

CONSUELLO—"No, in a pot."

CONDUCTOR—"How old are you, little girl?"

CRUGAR—"If you don't mind, I'll pay my fare in full and keep my own statistics."

JO SMITH—"Do you believe in the survival of the fittest?"

LESS BLEVINS—"I don't believe in the survival of anybody. I'm an undertaker."

MISS FORAN—"Well here you are. A pill for the indigestion, a tablet for the head, and another pill for the nerves."

TOOTSIE JOHNSON—"Yes, but how will the little devils know where to go when they get inside?"

"Waiter, it's been half an hour since I ordered that turtle soup."

"Sorry, Sir, but you know how turtles are."

HE—"If I ever get an aeroplane it will have 300 horse power."

SHE—"But are there that many left?"

JEWEL—"You don't know what a broom is for."

ADA—"Oh, yes, I do—the bride marries him."

TOM—"What a nice hand you have."

ELIZABETH—"O, you like it? I'm sort of attached to it myself."

He gazed at her from head to foot: "What beautiful proportions, what shapely legs—She's a beauty, I can't get along without her." And another good cow changed hands.

LIB—"Opal swears she has never been kissed by a man."

MARGARET B.—"Well isn't that enough to make her swear?"

TEACHER—"Where were you born, little girl?"

PUPIL—"I wasn't born at all. I have a stepmother."

PENNY—"Wylde, what do you think of the Turkish atrocities?"

MARY—"I don't know. I never smoked any."

"We have some very nice pickled herring," suggested the delicatessen dealer. "Not for me," replied the man who was doing the family shopping. "There's no pleasure in getting thirsty any more."

FIRST CONVICT—"When I get out of this penitentiary I'm gonna have a hot time, ain't you?"

SECOND CONVICT—"Don't know. I'm in for life."

The old lady in the confectionery store was growing impatient at the lack of service. Finally she rapped on the counter. "Here young lady, who waits on the nuts?"

LAWYER—"Don't you think that $20,000 cash would be punishment enough for his breach of promise?"

ALICE—"No indeed, I want to marry him."

Boys don't usually care about keeping "that school girl complexion." That's the reason they brush the powder off their coats as soon as they get home.

A little love, a little hate
And that was life;
A little hanging on the gate
And then a wife.

HE—"There are two periods in a man's life when he never understands a woman."

SHE—"Indeed! And what are they?"

HE—"Before and after marriage."

THE IMPRINT OF PRIDE

*P*RINTING is the great constructive force of the modern civilized world. It plays the indispensable part in the dissemination of news, in the expression and progression of political ideals, in the records and exchange of commerce and industry. It democratizes education, science, art, music—and broadens the scope of everything it touches. ¶To appreciate its high place in the esteem of an enlightened world, PRINTING MUST BE WELL DONE. Our offering to the cause of BETTER PRINTING is REPRESENTED IN THIS ANNUAL
